

Voranaddha Vacharathit, MD completed her training in the United States. She is currently a staff surgeon in the Department of General Surgery (G4) specializing in minimally invasive surgery. She has published in various peer-reviewed journals, authored several book chapters, and has been the principal investigator on several grants. Her current interests include minimally invasive surgery, surgical innovations, foregut surgery, tissue engineering, and surgical education.

EDUCATION

2021-present	Chulalongkorn Memorial Hospital, Bangkok, Thailand Staff Surgeon
2019 - 2020	Geisinger Medical Center; Danville, Pennsylvania Minimally Invasive Foregut and Bariatric Surgery Fellowship
2014 - 2019	The Cleveland Clinic; Cleveland, Ohio General Surgery Residency
2010 - 2014	Vanderbilt University School of Medicine; Nashville, Tennessee Doctor of Medicine
2006 - 2010	Harvard College; Cambridge, Massachusetts Bachelor of Arts in Molecular and Cellular Biology French Language Minor Magna Cum Laude Honors thesis in Bioengineering
2004-2006	Ruamrudee International School, Thailand Valedictorian

LICENSES AND CERTIFICATIONS

The Medical Council of Thailand – full license
Pennsylvania Board of Medicine – full license
Ohio Board of Medicine – training license
American Board of Surgery – board certified May 2020
Xi Robotic Training completion certification (Intuitive) – July 2020
American Society of Bariatric and Metabolic Surgery (ASMBS) Fellowship certification- 2020
Society of American Gastrointestinal and Endoscopic Surgeons (SAGES) Advanced GI MIS certification- November 2020

LANGUAGES

Thai
English
French