

Born and raised in Denver, Colorado, Ms. Phaisawang is a native English speaker who understands Thai physicians and their specialized needs. She works with physicians to help deliver the best editing services around. Ms. Phaisawang has been an English Editor for the Research Affairs, MDCU for nearly 10 years with an average turn-around time of one week (7 days). She also works as a special-projects consultant for the MDCU Deans Committee. In and around the medical field, she is known as “Kru Poom” and has helped train MDCU’s leading physicians, past and present, in all four skills of the English language including USMLE Step 2 CS preparation and interviewing strategies for success.

Ms. Phaisawang is also successful entrepreneur as the Managing Director of Keen English Consulting, Co., Ltd., a boutique English consulting company that provides all-around English language training and services to multinational, domestic, government and university organizations for high-performing results.

As a professional writer, Ms. Phaisawang possesses dynamic writing abilities in the medical field as well as in other industries. She also works as copywriter for Thailand’s most popular retail and hospitality organizations. She is the official copywriter of the Gaysorn Village, Ratchaprasong Square Trade Association (RSTA), Megabangna and Thaniya Plaza, to name a few.

It is her goal to help all of MDCU’s best and brightest physicians and scientific researchers gain the recognition they deserve in international publications.